

TRUE SURRENDER by Tracey Cramer-Kelly

When Major Aaron Bricewick is rescued from Afghanistan terrorists, he thinks the worst is over. But his personal journey is just beginning...

The first surprise is the amputation of one of his legs.

The second is the woman he left behind, now a widow with a 4-year-old son . and his new prosthetist (artificial limb maker).

He vows that losing his leg won't derail his career. But maintaining his outward appearance as a got-it-together officer becomes increasingly difficult as he faces one personal demon after another . and sees his career aspirations slipping away. And though he has no intention of expanding his life to include a woman, his heart has other ideas . and he finds himself questioning the very foundation of his personal beliefs.

When violence . and unexpected redemption . touch his life again, Aaron must make a stand. Which will he choose: duty or love?

